

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There are provided an information storage apparatus and an information reproducing method capable of reading a mark without being disturbed by cross talk even if a track pitch is narrow.

If reading a mark has failed in a region on an information storage medium, a recording state in a region adjacent to that region is changed to reduce cross talk (step S102), and thereafter reading of the mark is again executed (step S103).